

Ending

June 17, 2015 Alexander Lho

Alex the king was no longer king, maybe he was. But since he talked to all the people he was no longer king. Alex was proud he made Brufftopia republic, and that everyone was leaders.

Meanwhile there was an island called Archibaldburg. They were learning the secret of mumball from Brufftopia. So one day the leader of Archibaldburg Brian, spoke to the king of Brufftopia, Alex. Brian said he was going to challenge Brufftopia to a Mumball game. Brufftopia accepted the challenge.

At 12:00 o'clock the game began. Alex was the judge of the game for team Brufftopia. Brian was the judge for Archibaldburg. Cullen the best player in Brufftopia started with the ball. He passed to Justin in the other team. "New rule, you have to say a book title or a series." Justin said Warriors, and passed to Collin. Collin then said Percy Jackson, and then passed to Solai. Solai caught it, but it slipped out of his hands. "Your out", king Alex said.

The game kept on going and going until Cullen and Jason were left. The rule was to say a state and capital and also say a shoe brand and jump five times. So Cullen did that and passed it to Jason. While Jason was jumping the Mumball fell out of his hands and dropped it on the floor. "Your out", Alex said. The Brufftopians cheered as loud as they can. "Leave this place now", Alex said. The Archibaldburgians left Bruce Topia and didn't come back.