

Audrey C-revenge

Chloe

Audrey and Chloe were sitting by the priestess' temple. Chloe was scribbling on a piece of paper, while Audrey looked like she was explaining something.

"I hope the plan works!" Chloe said, reviewing her work. "I don't want to ever see the dungeons again."

"Of course it will! I didn't work this hard just to get thrown in the dungeons!" snapped Audrey. She rubbed her hands together, like she was about to do something really evil (which she was). "I can't wait to see the look on Amelia's face when she gets thrown into jail." She cackled excitedly.

"Serves her right for throwing my friend into the dungeons." Chloe sneered. "I hope she learns her lesson."

"She better, or we'll just take another shot!" she said with a gleam of evil in her eyes.

"Way to have a growth mindset!" said Chloe cheerfully to her.

"Well, lets hope Amelia has a fixed one and never throws anyone in the dungeons again."

"Hey, I need to go. A redemptioner's donating some books to my awesome library and I need to collect them." The priestess got up. "I'll leave you to work on the plan. Be here in an hour."

"Kay. See ya." said Audrey calmly. Any hint of evil in her face was now gone. Soon, the priestess walked into the temple and was gone.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on lined paper]